

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

Paragraph [0014] of the specification has been amended to correct a typographical error in the previous amendment to now recite element 56 as a follower or projection.

Claim 1 has been amended to replace the period at the end of subparagraph (b) with a semicolon.

Responsive to the Examiner's objection, the releasable latch assembly is now recited as including a housing to which the means for guiding the follower is attached. The claim now clearly recites the connection between the actuator assembly 24 and the releasable latch assembly.

In view of the amendments made hereinabove, it is submitted that the claims are now in a form overcoming the Examiner's objections and in condition for allowance, which action is hereby requested.

Respectfully submitted,
